PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Above: Mrs. Sutherland, Right: Mrs. Shore, Mrs. Chamberlin, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Deputat, Ms. McMurdo

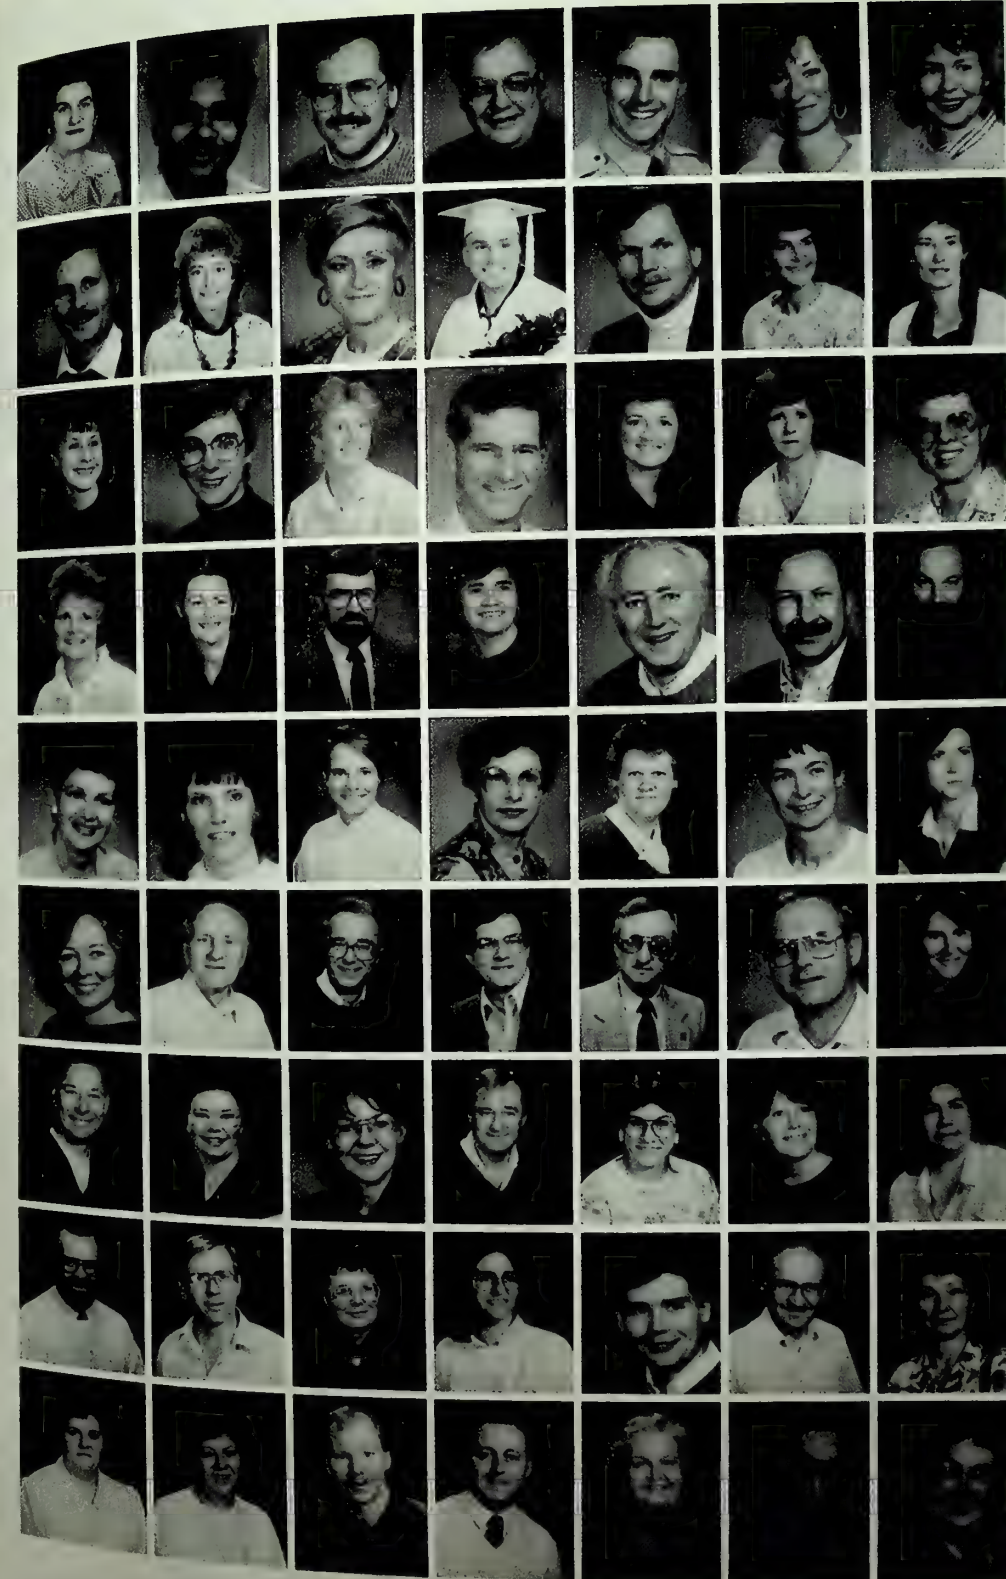

Traditions of excellence are being developed at this very young high school. Traditions take years to establish and then tend to change only gradually over the years. The people who comprise the school are involved in shaping the direction of the academic, elective, and athletic programs. The quality, responsibility and responsiveness of students in student government, athletics, performances, and school presentations has been outstanding. We have several championships and awards to our credit and are becoming a force that other high schools have to recognize and prepare for. This winning attitude based on team work and dedication is a tradition we have worked hard to establish.

This, my first half-year at J. Percy Page has been a totally positive experience. It is a place where I have witnessed students enjoying learning and staff willingly involved in working closely with students. Hard work and dedication is accepted as the norm for success and outstanding effort is respected by the vast majority of students. The openness and warmth that permeates our school makes J. Percy Page a special place to be.

I thank you all for making me feel welcome at J. Percy Page and for contributing to the school. I have enjoyed working with you. Those of you who will be back next year can profit from the traditions of excellence that are being established. For those who are leaving I hope you will do so with a feeling of accomplishment and with fond memories. May you have good fortune, good luck and great success in the future. You are now a part of J. Percy Page's budding traditions and you will always be welcome at this school.

One Act Plays

The one act plays included: "Dream Walk", "Suppressed Desires", "The Ugly Duckling", "Still Alarm", "Just One Day".

Drama Production

This has been a very busy year for the drama department. The drama troupe did many presentations and productions during the year that helped make school a little more bearable. They put on the haunted house, which was a big hit this year and also played a major role in the christmas hit. The major production this year was "Anything Goes," a musical by Cole Porter. Rehearsals for the play started in early November and after four months of long hard rehearsals and numerous nervous breakdowns, the curtain came up (so to speak). The cast and crew of the S.S. America had a very enjoyable and memorable time. The major production was hardly over when the student directed one act plays began. The school adjudicating took place May 2nd and 3rd. "Just One Day" and "Suppressed Desires" were the plays choose to represent our school at the city championship. Overall it was a very enjoyable year for drama.

Student Government Executive

The executive of 1988/89 is a group of super-fantastic individuals with energetic personalities, creative ideas and unlimited dreams. All eager to help and teach others with their leadership, kindness and experience; all with the desire to do something for the school. This desire to share the things we've learned is the reason for the following collage of "words of wisdom": "organization is the key to success, along with honesty, determination, integrity and most of all flexibility" (Jeji Varghese), "An open mind always leads to an open heart" (William Fredericks), "Despite differences, you must work them out in order to ensure success. (Remember the cookie baking guys?)" (Minal Upadyha), "Get involved for the enjoyment of it! Be prepared for cooperation and compromise." (Leanne Clare), "Even if you fall short of your goals, keep striving for more. Benefits can arise from the ashes of misfortune" (Ron Landry). What I have learned is reflected in the words of Albert Einstein: "The ideals which have lighted my way, and time after time have given me new courage to face life cheerfully have been kindness, beauty and truth". "Cooperation and optimism with consideration for both sides of the issue gives a better result every time!" (Kevin Boychuk). It is so important that one realizes the wisdom of these words. It is too easy when caught up in times of stress and great responsibility to forget the people who care for you and their efforts to comfort you, to forget to see the beauty of your world—your accomplishments and dreams. On behalf of the executive I would like to thank everyone who helped us out this year. Thanks to the reps. who diligently attended every meeting and ate all our food, who put in so many hours helping to make the activities fantastic. Without you we would have gotten nowhere. Thank—you to the student body who bore through our experiments with humor and participated bravely. And to the enthusiastic but sometimes skeptical teachers who were always there when we needed you, a special thank—you. And although thanks doesn't seem to repay all that you've done for us Ms. Broad, thanks for your enthusiasm, the always needed pats of the back, the good advice and especially the inspirational words which soothed our aches and pains and hot us back on our feet. It has been a wonderful year for us, a year full of insight, realization and new beginnings which will provide a strong foundation for future councils to build upon. Keep smiling and best wished, Joanne Holloway. Back row: Ron Landry (Student Liaison), William Fredericks (Sunwapa Chairperson). Front row: Jeji Varghese (Cascade Chairperson), Joanne Holloway (Student Government President), Leanne Clare (Wapiti Chairperson), Minal Upadyha (Treasurer/ Secretary)

Grad Council

Back: Mr. Long, Megan Evans, Jackie Leighton, Craig Sherburne, Vivek Kohli, Frank Cheung, Mr. Shave, Front: Mrs. Kalmacoff, Jackie Gingell, Joanne Cao, Mei Chew, Lisa Taylor, Maureen Krenz.

In the past it has been the place of other clubs and councils to organize events for the school, and the place of Grad council to have fund raisers for the graduands, and relatively no involvement with the other grades. This year we have tried to focus ourselves on serving the school by organizing events for the entire school and not just for the Graduands.

Along with the fund raisers we tried to give back a little through events for the whole school. Events such as the Edmonton Eskimo—Senior Basketball game, and guest speakers such as Richard Cunningham, was to bring the school together. This also served to make Grad council an active and visual part of the school. Next years Grad council will enter with Grad council recognized as an important force in school activities.

In conclusion, I would have to say that this is a year that will be looked back upon, by all, with fondness. It did not come by the work of any single club or group. It came from the involvement of the most important part of any school group—the students.

YEARBOOK

In the 1989 yearbook we have tried to reflect the many people, activities and memories that made this THE YEAR OF THE PANTHER! Our goal has been to create a book that we will be able to use to reminisce over the friendships and laughter of years gone by. To produce this yearbook it took the commitment and dedication of many hours spent by a few hard working people. We know we will and have been rewarded for our efforts through this final product, the special friendships we have made and the multitude of new experiences we have all gained. I would like to thank Mrs. Panylyk for her support and guidance which allowed us to overcome many obstacles, and many thanks to Mr. Gainer who provided us with the photos for our book and who has been an invaluable part of the production. A special thank you to Karen Taylor who put up with my "slave driving" throughout the year.

"And when you finally fly away I'll be hoping that I served you well
For all the wisdom of a lifetime no one can ever tell
But whatever road you choose, I'm right behind you win or lose"

FAREWELL

Mr. Pankhurst

This is my opportunity to say farewell to all of you. I wish you all the success in the future. May all of your dreams come true and may each of you live a full and rewarding life. I wish you increasing knowledge and wisdom throughout your life. The past years have been great and your ideas and enthusiasm have been a learning experience for me.

I will miss you all.

John Pankhurst

Mr. McCaughan

It is with mixed emotions that I write this entry for the J. Percy Page yearbook. I have enjoyed my five year's working with the students and staff in the school. There are many memories which I will cherish for the remainder of my life. I would like to comment on what the experience has meant to me.

I found it analogous to parachuting! After much preparation and planning the inevitable school opening was imminent. Leaving this phase of security was akin to exiting the aeroplane and dropping into a state of anxiety where one awaited the comfortable security of the lines and open canopy. This anxious period was short-lived, though, as the students and staff provided the support and were soon working cooperatively to untangle the lines and head towards a target or goal. The goal, being the best school in the district, was identified and all resources were directed towards attaining it. Page is an incredible school and has unbelievable people who care about one another!

I am proud to have been a part of your school life and I wish you continued success in your endeavors. To the graduates, I trust we have provided you with what is necessary to assure the fulfillment of your goals and dreams. Accept your challenges, be flexible and adaptive in the settings you may encounter and stay "Forever Young".

Meanwhile, I'm heading to another jump zone! Goodbye, and thanks for the memories.

P.S. And thank you Miss Kemp for your assistance with all my yearbook messages.

Alex McCaughan

CASCADE HOUSEMASTER

This is the fifth year that I have been privileged to be associated with the students, staff and parents of Cascade House and J. Percy Page High School.

Each year I reflect on the fact that I am extremely lucky to be involved with such positive personalities and am sometimes concerned that the "bubble will burst".

I am pleased to say that 1988/89 is another exceptional year in all respects.

As schools mature they develop traditions which establish the manner in which they are regarded by the students and staff within and the members of the community without.

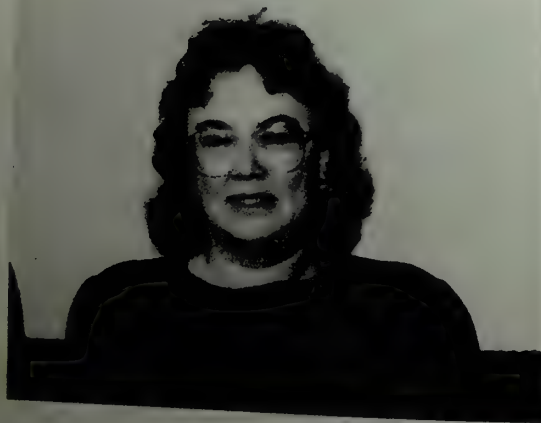

In a very short time our school has established some important milestones (kilometre rocks?). To mention a few aspects:

- a strong academic level evidenced by the increased numbers of honours students in Math, Social, English and Science.
- ten city championships in only five years of team sport participation.
- very professional fine arts productions involving the Drama, Music and Art departments (two selections to the Provincial Drama Festival).
- skilled graduates in the areas of Beauty Culture, Automotives, Building Construction, Visual Communications and Business Education

It makes me very proud to be a member of J. Percy Page Composite High School and also extremely gratified to acknowledge that Cascade House is an integral part of the status and success achieved in such a short time.

Congratulations to the Graduating Class of 1989. "You will make the world a little better place with your contribution!"

SUNWAPTA HOUSE

SUNWAPTA HOUSEMASTER

As a new member of Sunwapta, I am probably experiencing many of the same feelings you had when you arrived at J. Percy Page. The excitement of making new friends, learning new things, fitting in and at the same time developing our own identity are all part of adjusting to a new "home".

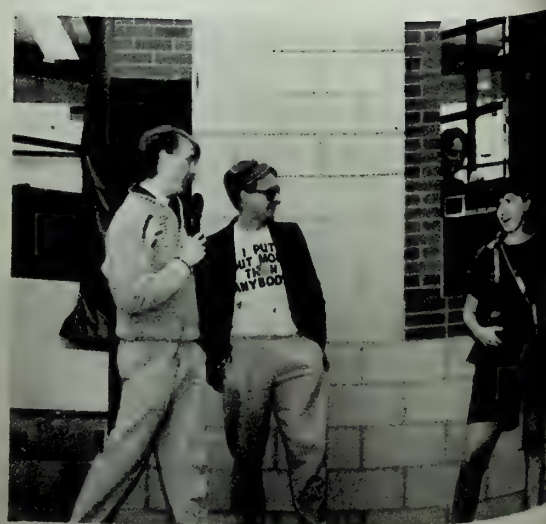

I have been pleased to see how Sunwapta students are striving to better themselves and our school. You are involved in a variety of academic and extra-curricular pursuits while having fun and maturing into responsible, productive citizens. The relationships, skills and memories acquired in your high school years will be with you throughout life. These years will be filled with many highs and some low points. All the experiences will provide you with knowledge that can draw on in your future.

The adjustment you make to high school prepares you for the many changes you will face. As you go through life look for ways to stay involved. Set your goals and actively pursue them. Take pride in your work and contribute to the best of your ability. As you face new challenges, whether you are moving into grade eleven or twelve or graduating, if you give your all, we in Sunwapta House will be proud of your contribution!

WAPITI HOUSE

WAPITI HOUSEMASTER

Mrs. Hamilton

1988-89 has been another wonderful year for J. Percy Page C.H.S. We have experienced growth and change in many ways but the basic foundation of caring has been strengthened.

Wapiti students and staff have demonstrated that everyone is able, valuable and responsible. As another year ends and it is again time to proudly say goodbye to graduates and look to the future, we realize that our students are the promise for that future. You hold the key. Strive to make every task your finest and remember you make the difference!

CLASS HISTORIANS

S: Good evening honored guests, parents, friends, staff and fellow graduands.
K: When Shelia and I were first given the opportunity to do the class history, we were slightly overwhelmed. For how can you sum up three, or four (or even five) terrific years, in a matter of mere minutes?

S: Everyone of us has special memories that we share with our closest friends. Yet there are still various experiences that we, the Class of '89 have endured and survived together.

K: Take for instance the fact that after being at the top of our respective jr. highs for one whole year we hit rock bottom, when we turned into Page's new grade 10's.

S: When we first walked into school, we realized that everything we had been told – was not exactly true. Here no one cared if you were the grade nine track star – except for maybe the track coach, or if you were the most popular. And contrary to the old belief that grade 10's are the last to be invited to parties. They're not invited at all. So you were shunned, laughed at, rated and made fun of until you finally sought refuge...the bathrooms. That comforting place, where you wondered if it would ever get better...but it didn't.

K: We found that frothing...tough "frowned upon by the administration", was alive and well at Page. And you never knew when, whether it was rushing to the bus or a class, you would run into a fully bearded grade 12 student with an egg in one hand and a can of Gillette Extra Foamy in the other.

S: It was a time of learning new things, like what Mr. Zabloski meant when he said, "today we'll be going for a short jog." Only to find yourself running the Percy Page Maraton with stretch intervals every five miles.

K: Getting to know your teachers was also very strange thing. In Mr. Pysyk's class, "Turkey Lips" and "Hey Babe" became part of our math vocabulary. And in Physics we had to cope with deciphering Mr. Loehde's chicken scratches on the chalkboard. Sex education was something to look forward to. For who could beat Mr. Pankhurst's vivid explanations and larger than life diagrams.

S: Grade 10 was also a time of very embarrassing moments. It never failed, whenever you walked by a class of grade 11's or 12's, your toe would always get stuck in those grooves. And you would end up doing a twisted triple summersault ending in a face plant. Or when crouching in front of your locker that one grade 11 would get perverse pleasure in seeing his door slammed into your face, leaving his locker m=nimber imprinted on your forehead.

K: But somehow we made it through and began looking forward to grade 11. What a relief it was, grade 10 was over. Some of our self-esteem was restored. It was the year of MOGA, the biggest waterfight ever. Where we discovered that yes, mud could stick to your teeth.

S: With spring came our first prom, where gone were the usual sweats, only to be replaced by gowns and ties. Also, I'll never forget the spring camping trip. After tossing and turning on your bed of porcupine needles and tree stumps, you woke to find the only thing separating you and eight gallons of rain water, was a piece of plastic that you had carelessly tied to a young sapling.

K: It was in grade 11 that cars first came into the picture. We discovered that 12 people who really wanted to go to McDonalds could actually fit into a hatchback. Cars were a sign of our growing maturity and independence. Both of which we needed for our last year.

S: Grade 12 has been reached and it is a time of revelations. We are once again at top of the school – the ruling elite.

K: This is the year that we were able to relive traditions and make some new ones of our own.

S: Take for instance the annual ski trips. The class of '89 was perhaps the cleanest and most co-ordinated skiers on the slopes.

K: Especially with all those shampoo bottles floating around. And we know that school spare no expense when it comes to the Grads and thier trips. This year's campers found out, when after only two hours on the road, the back tire blew up, leaving them stranded for an hour and a half in the hands of their inexperienced bus driver.

S: Fortunately it allowed Mr. Zabloski and the Volvo to catch up.

K: Slave days gave alot of insight into what people were thinking and feeling. You really know what someone thinks of himself, when he demands the red carpet treatment for a measly two dollars.

S: And obviously Mr. Poulin is admired for much more than just his teaching abilities, when a group of students were willing to buy him for over sixty-five.

K: Then of course there are those English teachers who usually have us snoring with thier ability to over analyze everything. Like "Grapes of Wrath" when it took us over three months of argueing to decide whether it was – the simpler version of Communist Manifesto, or an early form of the "Satanic Versus". In the end, we decided that it was written under the influence.

S: In other words an Edgar Allan Poe follower?

K: Yeah!

S: This years play of "Anything Goes", truly lived up to its name. It had everything from a bird imitating gangster to a promiscuous angel.

K: And of course in preparation for grad, some grade 12's participated in the annual fashion show. I think some of them are still trying to get the make up off. Especially the guys.

S: And it was in grade 12 the the "D-word", first came into use. For after 13 years of hard studying and innaccurate opinions, this is our reward... S/K: ...the Diploma.

K: It brings a new meaning to the idea of an all nighter.

S: For who could beleive that three years of Physics could be learned in six hours.

K: But who could complain, despite our unique beginnings, we still managed to make it this far.

S: Just think, soon all this will just be a fond memory. We'll think back and have a good laugh.

K: Yeah! Over the past three years, the class of '89 has truly made itself something worth remembering. Can you imagine if years from now....?

S/K: Vivek really does win an Olympic medal.

S: Or Megan Evans actually make a million dollars.

K: Or, if Craig Sherburne becomes the Prime Minister of Canada.

S: Do you really think any of these things could ever really happen?

S/K: Nah!

CLASS VALEDICTORIAN

High school graduation is an important step in our journey through life. Although it is a time to reflect on past achievements, to cherish the memories that high school has held, to remember all those who have supported us throughout the years, it is also a beginning. It is a time to look forward to a future where we transform our dreams into reality.

High school has prepared us for our future by exposing us to a variety of fields. This exposure has enabled us to discover ourselves. We have broadened our horizons by uncovering our likes, dislikes, strengths and weadnesses. By becoming more aware of what makes us unique individuals, we have learned to understand and accept each other's differences. We will quickly realize the stability of what we have learned, as we face our quncertain futures. We should not hesitate to step into the world. Though it is sad to leave friends, we should not let this sadness overpower our ability to face our future, nor should we let fear stand in our way. We should be optimistic – optimistic about the future, about the learning, and about the knowledge that what we do with the rest of our lives depends directly on our own skills, abilities and talents.

Now, as we look toward the future, we can see that there are many different roads to choose from. Each road has different challenges. But now, as we stand just before the fork, we must pause to apply all that we have learned. All the good times, and the sad times will remain locked in our memories. And as we hold the key, we have the ability to unlock the door whenever we want. We must remember that all the experience we have gained will be with us as we see the need. As we take that first step down the next road, we must realize that at the end also lies a rose – a rose that symbolizes our hopes and dreams. The rose gives us the ability to decide what is right for us.

As we continue down the road, we must realize that at the end also lies a rose – a rose that symbolizes our hopes and dreams. The rose gives us the ability to decide what is right for us. As we continue down the road, we must realize that at the end also lies a rose – a rose that symbolizes our hopes and dreams. The rose gives us the ability to decide what is right for us.

But the credit is not ours alone. Even now as we stand, proud to know that we have come this far, much of what we are today has been influenced by those significant others in our past and present. Today, I'd like to remember all those people that have urged us to make something of ourselves. All the advice from each of you, whether it has been as family, friends, teachers, or counsellors, has played a vital role in the decisions that we have made. Now, as we finish high school, and prepare for bigger and better things, we recognize the importance of your influence and we thank you for helping us gain more confidence in ourselves. Your respect for our decisions is essential. This is why it is important for us to hear you say "whatever road you choose, I'm right behind you, win or lose."

With a true acceptance by others, the ambitions and goals that we are beginning to accomplish appear one step closer. Happiness can be achieved when we recognize three things: the extent of knowledge we have already gained, the importance of making our own decisions and remaining true to ourselves, and the necessity of being respected by other people. It is high school that has given us the opportunity to gain the intellectual and emotional growth that is required for us to take a step in a new direction.

I'd like to leave you with two thoughts, the first is a few important words to engrave in your hearts: honesty, integrity and determination. Whenever you feel discouraged, remember these words and apply them to your life. The second, is a poem written by Robert Frost. I realize that Mr. Pankhurst has beaten me to it, but I'd like to repeat it for emphasis.

The Road Not Taken

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as for as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, as just as fair
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

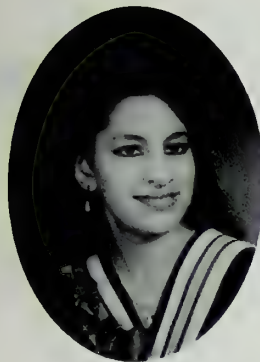

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I –
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

– by Robert Frost

...May we all choose the roads that are best for us!

Barb Brough: Eye of Ice, Eye of Green
Eye of ice, eye of green
A love that runs so strong
But yet can still turn mean
Eye of ice, eye of green
A heart that holds so much
Yet is reluctant to be seen
Eye of ice, eye of green
Sending love through vibes
Never expect then to be keen
Eye of ice, eye of green
It is going to be more
Than just a dream...

What would you think
If I sang out of tune,
Would you stand up
And walk out on me.

I get by with a little help
From my friends,
I get high with a little help
From my friends.
Going to try with a little help
From my friends. -The Beatles-

Whatever you do, do it to the best of your abilities, and don't let anyone talk you out of it. That's what high school is for. I didn't learn that until grade twelve, but I learned. To SKH and AA, try to get out within the next 8 years. Have fun in Cowtown, Derek.
